Mission of Our Class - Lower Middle

- Students are motivated to want to learn and do their personal best.
- Students will learn in an environment that is free from ridicule and put-downs.
- Students will learn to trust themselves and their classmates and will be truthful at all times.

Natasha is the Lead Teacher for the lower middle level grade students. She strives at this level to fully embrace the conviction that every learner has distinct educational needs. She inspires her students to work at an advanced level to expand their abilities and realize their full academic potential.

Natasha is specially trained to target specific brain functions (such as attention controls, higher thinking abilities, or problem solving skills). Peer pressure is reduced and her students are taught about social cognition.

She holds all her students accountable for achieving a highly productive output to the best of their ability.

Natasha is flexible in her curricular requirements. Students who benefit from accommodations are expected to compensate by performing additional work in the area of their strength or affinity.

Natasha hails from Athens, TN and has a BS degree in Elementary Education from Tennessee Tech where she was on the Deans list 8 of 9 semesters. She holds Tennessee teacher certification.

Natasha has spent the majority of her life caring for children in various ways including Vacation Bible Schools, Internships in Children's and Youth Ministry, as well as working through college in the Child Development Lab at Tennessee Tech University.

Natasha has teaching experience at various elementary grade levels. She is a dedicated, resourceful and goal-driven educator with a solid commitment to the academic and social development of each student. She has a contagious positive attitude and superior social skills that foster meaningful relationships with students, staff and parents. Natasha lives in Cookeville.
